

Correcting Misplaced Modifiers

In the space below each sentence, rewrite the sentence to correct the misplaced modifiers in the following sentences. (Do not create a new sentence or independent clause. You're trying to show you know how to correctly place a modifier!)

1. Jarrett found two abandoned puppies driving along a back road.
2. Dangling from the ceiling fan, Erin saw a spider on a narrow silken thread.
3. From a bench at the side of the playground, a woman kept a close eye on her toddler reading War and Peace in the original Russian.
4. Snapping and growling, the letter carrier was afraid to approach the dog.
5. The student visited the office of the English professor who needed tutoring in grammar.
