Change the Intro information: If your word were a person, where would they live? Work?

Where it says, "In a relationship with," put a synonym of the word.

In the Photos section, put four pictures that reflect the meaning of the word. (See steps at bottom of page.) What types of photos would your word post?

In the Friends section, you will change the names of the friends to words that fit the following categories:

1. In the same word family
2. Antonym
3. Another vocab word from the list. (Note: This word will make a comment to your word.)
4. Synonym (different from the one in the Info section)

Change the Photo Post (who you're with, the post, & the photo). Think of something your word would be doing and who they'd be doing it with (another word). The relationship between the two words (synonyms, antonyms, what your word would "value," etc.) will determine what kind of post/picture you'll have.

Add a comment to the Photo Post from a different word. It should reflect the relationship of the words.

Change the Comment Post so it is from "Friend 3." What would that word say to your word? It should reflect both words' characteristics.

Change the Check Ins. Where would your word go? Select places that reflect its personality.
